PowerStick.com named one of PPB's Greatest Companies To Work For

PowerStick, a Canadian-based designer and manufacturer of consumer electronics and tech accessories for the promotional products market, has been recognized as one of PPB's 2019 Greatest Companies To Work For.

Companies earning the best scores in the competition represent a diverse group of distributors, suppliers and business services firms from across the U.S. and Canada—from micro businesses with nine or fewer team members to companies with hundreds of employees in multiple locations.

PowerStick has continued to uphold employee happiness throughout the years. The relationship between employee happiness, employee engagement, and employee performance has been clearly established through numerous research studies.

Employees that are happy are more motivated and innovative. PowerStick strives to go the extra mile to give distributors an exceptional experience.

“This is always a very popular program—and one of the most competitive,” says PPB Editor Tina Berres Filipski. “... Inclusion there means the company is creating a workplace where employees are, in general, really happy to work there.”

PowerStick is located in Ottawa, Canada and Ogdensburg, New York. The company is known for its original designs, innovative technologies and quality, supported by the lifetime warranty on its chargers. Many of its products are manufactured in Canada, so quality is assured and rapid fulfillment guaranteed. The company has no minimums and sample orders less than $10 are free of charge.
